

Greg Jones

For more than 32 years Greg has been designing and delivery training for people in the retail and automotive industry as well as the government sector. Greg regularly presents on the subjects of leadership, customer service, retail sales, business development, automotive technical and train-the-trainer educational design and delivery. Greg is committed to conveying his message through experiential learning delivered with pizzazz.

Greg's high-energy facilitation style utilizes the experience of each participant. Greg employs proven adult-learning principles to ensure every person becomes a stakeholder in the learning process. His passion for people and fun-loving attitude create a welcoming atmosphere where participants engage in adopting and implementing new methods and ideas.